Interview process.

We know that an interview can be a daunting experience. We make allowances for nerves and we endeavor to make the process as enjoyable as possible.

The interview will be relatively informal and will include an Architectural Technology programme overview and an interview with a member of the academic staff member.

During your interview please be prepared to describe your creative work and answer our questions about it.

We understand that not everyone will have previous Architectural Technology experience or qualifications. This is not essential. What we are looking for in you is an ability to learn how to be an Architectural Technologist, and this may be demonstrated through a number of aspects, including talking to you and hearing about aspirations for your future.

Preparation for interview.

Please read carefully the following information and instructions, which are intended to help you with your interview.

Please use this as an opportunity to show that you are ready to start a degree course in Architectural Technology. To do this, you can bring with you any previous work that demonstrates your interest and related skills (in arts, design, technology, computer-aided design, etc.).

Your informal chat with a member of the programme staff will give you an opportunity to explore the potentials of the course. It will also give us the chance to know you better and provide you with early guidance in how to successfully start the course.
