Q UON Police Team

A dedicated team of experienced police officers, based on-campus, to help keep all students and staff members safe. The team are here to enforce the law and disrupt any potential criminal activity, as well as to offer advice around any crime and safety issues, or to assist with protecting vulnerable people.

How can I contact the UON Police Team

The team can be found out and about at all of the University locations. Or you can get in touch with them via the front desk at the Visitor's Centre on Waterside Campus - feel free to pop in. They can also be contacted through the Security and Community Safety Team, who will often know the location of the officers at any given time:

 01604 892269

 CampusSecurity@northampton.ac.uk

Do you prefer to report a non-emergency crime or incident from the comfort of your room?

This can be done via northants.police.uk or you can call 101.

You can also raise any issues or concerns to one of the officers directly when you see them out and about or situated within University buildings.

How can I give information to the police team?

You only need to tell us what you know, not who you are. We have a secure letterbox in the Visitor's Centre building for you to anonymously tell us about any concerns you may have.

You can also report anonymously via Crimestoppers at crimestoppers-uk.org

What is the emergency number for the Police?

In an emergency, always dial 999.

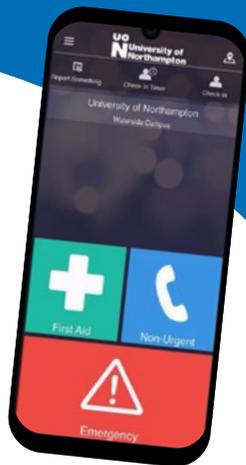

This number is a 24-hour service, and you should only use it in situations where there is: danger to life, use, or immediate threat of use, of violence.

When should I use the emergency button?

- If you feel threatened, or if someone has threatened you
- If you have been assaulted or are the victim of a robbery
- If you are hurt or injured (or use first aid if it's a minor injury)
- If you see somebody else being threatened, assaulted or a victim of crime in progress.

First Aid Alert

Tap First Aid if you or another person needs medical assistance. All response team members are qualified first-aiders (tap again to cancel).

Help Call

Tap Help to connect to your local response team or the Security and Community Safety Team. To cancel the call, tap again while the timer is winding down.

When should I use Help Call?

- If you are concerned about something but it's not an emergency.
- If you want to report suspicious activity.
- Any other scenario where you would want to contact security.

To download the app, scan the QR code or visit your app store.

Personal safety.

 Drugs

Staying safe

Our advice will always be to avoid trying or using any type of drug, while you are at University. Whatever your attitude towards drugs, it's important that you are aware of the facts so that you can recognise the risks. The risks can concern personal safety and wellbeing, as well as the legal consequences involved.

The best way to stay safe is to avoid drugs completely.

Things to consider.

- Everyone's tolerance is different.
- You can never really be sure of the strength, content, or purity of any illegal drug.
- Mixing more than one substance (including alcohol) can be unpredictable and dangerous
- Don't assume everyone can make it home - look out for your friends and keep each other safe.
- If you have taken drugs, be sure to tell friends in case of any difficulties or problems.

Can I use legal highs or cannabis gummies?

The production, distribution, sale and supply of previously called 'legal highs' (such as spice) is now an offence that is punishable by up to seven years in prison, after the Psychoactive Substances Act was brought into effect. The changes in the law mean it's now an offence to freely give these psychoactive substances to anyone, even to friends.

So called 'legal' or 'herbal highs' are designed to mimic class A, B or C drugs such as cocaine or cannabis, but may not have been tested for human consumption.

New drugs are constantly being developed and long-term effects on the body and brain are unknown.

I need support with drugs use how can I get help?

How can I report crime or information anonymously?

How can I keep myself safe on a night out?

Before heading out:

- Make sure you know who's coming out and how you're getting home.
- Pre-drinking alcohol will effect your perceptions and inhibitions throughout the night. Consider how much you drink, including any pre-drinks and how this may effect you and your safety.
- Choose a meeting point where you'll wait for friends if you get separated.
- Download a taxi app onto your phone and only get in the taxi you have booked.
- Charge your phone - a flat battery is no use to anyone (you can buy a portable power bank to give your phone a boost while you're out).
- Have the number of your friends who you are going out with on your phone.
- Use the Safer Route home if you live on Waterside Campus or at St John's Halls of Residence.
- Download a find my friend app and put all your friends on it.

While I am out?

- Buy your own drinks and always keep them with you.
- Use a bottle topper if drinking from a bottle.
- Tell a friend, bar staff or door staff if you feel unwell.
- Look out for each other - never leave your friends alone and always try to come home with everyone you went out with, or make sure you know where they have gone to.
- Stay in well-lit areas where there are plenty of people.
- Plan a route home.
- Stick to places you know.
- Games encouraging alcohol consumption can increase peer pressure to drink more. Be aware of your intoxication level and that of your friends.

If you feel unsafe or need urgent help,
call 999 immediately.

If you can't find your friend and you have concerns for their welfare, tell the venue staff or call the Police on 999.

What is a street pastor? How can they help me?

Street pastors are trained volunteers from local churches who care about their community. They patrol in small groups of men and women, usually from 10pm to 4am on a Friday and Saturday night. They are there to care for, listen to and help people who are out on the streets.

 Visit streetpastors.org for more information.

What is the SNO van?

The SNO van is a haven in the middle of the town's nighttime economy, a place to find help and to keep safe.

The van is a sanctuary for anyone who's separated from their friends, feels vulnerable, needs basic first aid, needs to charge their phone to ensure they can get home, or needs any kind of support so that they stay safe.

Where can I find the SNO van?

A highly visible spot in Northampton town centre every Friday and Saturday night, between 9pm and 5am.

Q What is a money mule?

A money mule is a person who transfers illegal money between different countries.

They are recruited, sometimes unwittingly, by criminals to transfer illegally obtained money between different bank accounts. Money mules receive the funds into their account, they are then asked to withdraw it and wire the money to a different account, often overseas, keeping some of the money for themselves. This money is likely to have come from illegal activity such as drugs, gangs, weapons or terrorism.

Even if you're unaware that the money you're transferring was illegally obtained, you have played a role in fraud and money laundering and can still be prosecuted. Criminals will often use fake job adverts or create social media posts about opportunities to make money quickly, to recruit potential money mules.

Behaviours that put you at risk of becoming a money mule:

- Responding to job adverts or social media posts that promise large amounts of money for very little work.
- Failing to research a potential employer, particularly one based overseas, before handing over your personal or financial details to them.
- Allowing an employer, or someone you don't know and trust, to use your bank account to transfer money.

How to protect yourself

- No legitimate company will ever ask you to use your own bank account to transfer their money into for you to then send to another account. Don't accept any job offers that ask you to do this.
- Be especially wary of job offers from people or companies overseas, as it will be harder for you to find out if they are genuine.
- Never give your financial details to someone you don't know and trust.
- Never share your bank account or debit/credit card details with anyone unless you know and trust them
- Never email your credit or debit card details to anyone, including the University.
- Be wary of offers of easy money - if it sounds too good to be true, it probably is.
- Be vigilant for adverts and emails containing bad spelling and grammar.
- Don't allow someone that you don't know or trust to transfer money through your bank account.

If someone contacts you and it seems unusual or unexpected, contact the University or the University Police Team for help. If the person who contacted you is genuine, they won't mind you checking before you respond to them.

Contents insurance

Students often own plenty of items that are attractive to thieves – take a look around you. In a flash a thief could have picked up a laptop and a mobile phone: that’s £800+.

Contents insurance policies provide the cover you need, taking into account your lifestyle and the fact that your house is empty in the holidays, and will allow you to quickly replace what’s stolen.

Many colleges and universities provide free contents insurance as part of their service – just make sure that you get top-up cover for especially valuable items such as laptops. Ask your parents if their contents insurance covers your property – sometimes it’s cheaper to add it on to their policy, but always check!

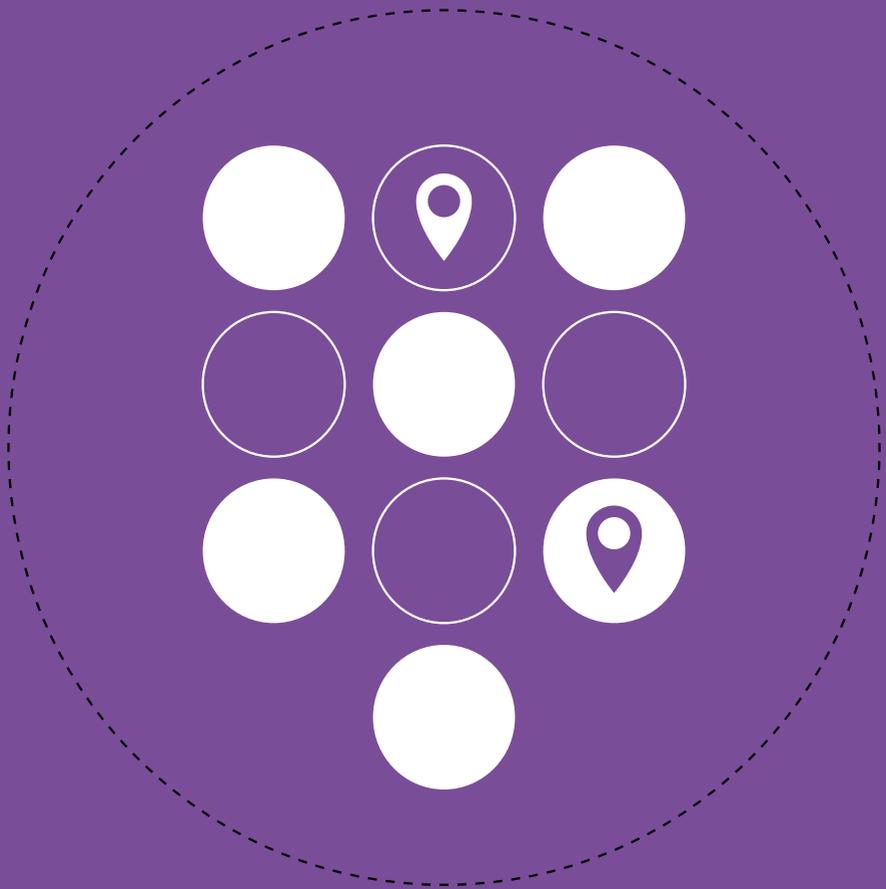

Get insurance sorted before you arrive at uni or college if you can – many thefts take place within a few weeks of a new term and in the run-up to Christmas as burglars start their Christmas shopping. Even if you haven't got it yet, it's never too late for insurance to be worth the cost!

Shop around for the best price. Think about insuring your most expensive or irreplaceable items like your laptop or bike individually.

Try to take most of your valuables home during the breaks. Insurance is a must for any student, but remember – it's less hassle to stay safe than to claim on your insurance!
